

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work would not stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNOBL, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. YOST, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENZA DUBERKING, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It will be confidential.

MUSHROOM GARDEN IN MINE

Proved Exceedingly Profitable to Man Who First Thought of the Possibilities.

The queerer the place selected for a mushroom garden, the finer it seems, is the growth of this popular table delicacy. Damp, snuggly places under tumble-down back porches and under cellars, discarded mossy cisterns and other dark humid spots have been found ideal. The fungus apparently thrives upon an atmosphere of decadence and decay.

The last word in the mushroom farm, however, is such a garden placed in the depths of a deserted coal mine, hundreds of feet below the ground, the Illustrated World states. Not far from Morgantown, W. Va., there is located this old coal mine, known as the Pittsburgh Coal Seam in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The mine was worked for a number of years, but its fuel production was used for domestic purposes only, being dug and hauled by wagon to consumers in the neighborhood. With the introduction of no further use for the old mine and some exceedingly interesting experiments have been conducted in its depths by Theodore F. Imbach, an assistant in the state agricultural experiment station at Morgantown.

Securing a permit from the owners of the property he encamped on the first level and made chemical analysis of the rocky soil. He found that it was rich in moisture and its constituents exactly those needed by edible fungi for their quickest and most luxuriant growth. He therefore started a mushroom farm and found that the spot was ideal for his purpose.

Mushrooms now are "mined" instead of coal and prove almost as profitable. The rooms of the mine, or the open spaces from which the coal was dug, have been found especially adapted to this kind of farming. Such locations have a steady temperature throughout the year and often they are so located as to have natural drainage. This "mushroom mine" now makes large shipments weekly to the city markets.

AERO PILOT KNOWS THRILLS

Probably No Occupation on Earth Can Compare With the Excitement of His Work.

The work of the pilot of an aeroplane is a ticklish profession. The engine needs constant watching, the controls by which he dips or soars need skillful handling, and the airman has to be on his feet to keep his hands, and his feet to keep his feet, from looking craft on an even keel. From below an aeroplane seems to be forging ahead as steady as a rock, but in the pilot's seat the rocking is terrible even on calmest days.

Guns or no guns, the pilot is compelled at times to fly low, so as to enable his observer to spy out the enemy, or any other information he has been commanded to procure. Photos, sketches, and notes have to be made by the observer, and at a low altitude within range of an enemy's guns the pilot has all his work cut out to avoid the bursting shells. There is another danger in flying low; as it is the pressure of air upon the forward edge of the planes that keeps the machine aloft, there is always the danger of flying into an air-pocket, or of encountering a cross-current; and either of these aerial dangers will send the machine hurtling to earth, where either death or capture lurks.

Trick to Dodge U-Boats.

There is one trick in the game of beating the submarines which was played very well by the ship that brought me across the Atlantic from Liverpool. She was advertised to sail on a Wednesday at 5 p. m. On Tuesday afternoon each person who had booked passage by her received a personal and private notification from her agents that her sailing had been postponed for two days. Of course, it would be extremely difficult to get that information to any submarine which might be lying in wait for that particular ship in time to do the submarine any good; but, just to make it a little more certain, she did not sail even at the postponed time. The passengers all went up to Liverpool on Friday and aboard ship. The vessel pulled out of the dock and anchored in the stream. There she waited for orders from the admiralty. It was thick and cold, with frequent snow squalls, all day on Saturday—ideal weather for dodging submarines; but the admiralty did not give the word to go until that evening. Then we went out into the muck at top speed. —Oscar King Davis in the Saturday Evening Post.

Nettle Substitute for Cotton.

Dr. Oswald Richter, professor of botany at the University for Agriculture in Vienna, prophesies that as a result of his experiments with nettle fiber Austria will become independent of foreign cotton. The authorities have decided to organize and to prepare for the use of the new material. In his efforts to separate the fiber of the nettle Professor Richter used ammonia with success, but the high cost of this method made it appear commercially unprofitable. Further experiments (so Professor Richter said in a recent lecture) have proved that the fibers may be separated with water. He has also simplified the process of separation. For this reason he believes that the cultivation of nettles will be found profitable even in time of peace.

Getting Used to it.

The death rate from wounds in the war is less than one-half as great as it was a year ago. Dr. Jacques Bertillon, medical statistician in the French army, declares that by hard work and exposure the men have become so toughened that they can now stand twice as much as they could last year. Then 45 out of every 1,000 wounded died, while now less than 20 succumb.

Plenty of Blunders.

"That 'Charge of the Light Brigade' was a great poem. What a ringing refrain—'Someone had blundered.' " "Was that the idea that inspired the poem?" "You may say so." "Gee, what a lot of poetry this war ought to bring forth."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Profit by This.

Don't Waste Another Day. When you are worried by backache, rheumatism and urinary disorders, don't experiment with an untried medicine. Follow Manning people's example. Use Don's Kidney Pills. Here's Manning's testimony. Verily it is if you wish.

W. H. White, owner of grocery, S. Boundary St., Manning, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for years. I had to get up very often during the night to pass the kidney secretions and they were highly colored and contained sediment like bricks. I suffered constantly from backache and sharp pains across my loins. I could hardly turn over in bed and mornings my back was so lame and sore that it was difficult for me to get up. Nothing helped me until I got Don's Kidney Pills. After using one box, my back didn't ache any more and the lameness and soreness had all disappeared. I don't have to get up now to pass the kidney secretions and am feeling like a new man."—Statement given March 19th, 1915.

OVER SIX YEARS LATER, Mr. White says: "I always use Don's Kidney Pills when I have any sign of kidney trouble, they keep my back and kidneys in good condition." Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. White has publicly recommended. Write Manning Co., prop., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

TO MATE WITH AMERICANS

Probable That a Part of the Surplus European Women Will Come to This Country.

For every man that has fallen in the European war a woman somewhere has lost a sweetheart or a husband. The final figures which death, the reaper, will write red at the bottom of his record will correspond with just so many unmarried women, unmarried with small possibility of marrying while they live in their native lands. The women of the man-reduced nations must either face lives of celibacy or go elsewhere for their husbands. It is therefore predicted that a vast influx of woman immigrants to America will be witnessed as soon as peace is established.

The question of handling this possible influx is already being discussed and a large philanthropic land development concern has been suggested to form colonies where the immigrant war widows and others may own and operate farms. But a woman without a man on a farm would not be a very safe investment even for a philanthropist. So the question of finding husbands for the various nationalities of Europe is one that must be seriously met and solved.

The great percentage of our own women live in the East. And in the middle West and Southwest there are hundreds of thousands of ranch owners, cowboys and miners who have few opportunities for marriage.

But suppose a shipload of fascinating foreign women were transported to the center of the cowboy region—all desiring to make some lonely, healthy and handsome "puncher" a helpful wife. What would be the effect on those sturdy Americans on the range? Suppose another shipload were carried to a prosperous mining town, where thousands of lonely men live in barren boarding houses, or keep bachelor cabins among the hills. Would the cowboys stampede and would the miners drop their muck sticks to marry the transplanted insect species?

Both the owners of mines and ranches prefer to have their men married, because in that state they don't drift around from camp to camp so much. They would therefore give such a matrimonial propaganda sufficient and encouraging backing. And as for the bachelors, who among them would not feel the call of romance offered in such a way?

French, Russian, Viennese, English and Italian, with a corresponding language and manner to each. The only needs would be a hyphenated dictionary and a hurrying clergyman. Does romance ever need a language when matins does the talking?

How Catarrh is Contracted.

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the child when their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Gypsy Migration.

The theory that the gypsies began their migration from India about 900 A. D. is now generally accepted. They were traced, through their language, to Kabul and Persia, where they became split. One group went south through Asia Minor and it was this branch that finally, through Turkey, wandered all over Europe. They first appeared in Germany in 1417, Switzerland in 1418, Denmark in 1420, Italy in 1422, France in 1447 and Poland and Russia in 1500. Their last migration were to the new world and to Australia. Their banishment from Germany began in 1725 under Frederick William I, when, by royal proclamation, they were allowed a certain time in which to leave the country, after which all men, women and children over eighteen years were sent to the galleys. France never allowed the gypsies to get a foothold. Italy and Spain were tolerant with the few they received, and Russia, England, Hungary, Roumania and Poland were generous toward the wanderers.

Despondency.

Barrel of Cement Per Capita.

Every man, woman and child in the United States was entitled to one barrel of cement as his per capita share in 1915. The demand during 1916 will doubtless be larger. There are approximately 100,000,000 people in the United States, and the 1915 production of commercial cement was about 100,000,000 barrels, says the Improvement Bulletin. Some curious disproportions have been noted in the demand for cement in the various states. Very little was used in Mississippi and South Carolina. Iowa's demand per capita was larger than any other state in the union, being 1.64 barrels. Montana obtained nearly as much. One of the companies engaged in the industry produces 18,000,000 barrels of cement yearly. While the manufacturers formerly bought some of the machinery used in the manufacture of cement in Europe, everything now needed by a cement mill can be obtained in the United States.

Activities of Women.

The various trade unions in Texas are working for a minimum wage for women. Wisconsin university has 401 woman graduates in the business and professional world. Miss Anna M. Halderman, the only woman baker in Girard, Kan., is soon to be married. Cornell university now admits women to the faculty of the college of arts and sciences. Miss Jennie Cardell of Oklahoma City will be the first woman in the United States to fill the office of internal revenue collector. She will be collector in that city during the 15 days of this month while the regular collector is attending the Democratic convention.
